ONE EA provided free transportation to a school building project in Mae Sot

With the aim of “connecting people in a world of need”, ONE EA worked with Crossroads Foundation, a Hong Kong-based non-profit organisation, to assist a local NGO in Mae Sot to offer schooling to refugee children for a life changing opportunity.

Currently, more than 93,000 refugees are residing at nine camps along the border between Thailand and Myanmar (Burma). Aside from the poor living environment posing a threat to the children, they do not have the opportunity to receive formal education due to the lack of resources.

In May, ONE provided free transportation to ship a variety of goods from Hong Kong to Bangkok. Later in mid-June, the local NGO received a shipment of needed materials to bring school buildings to life, including beds, computers, appliances, clothing and shoes.

ONE EA provided free transportation to a school building project in Mae Sot

With the new school buildings, refugee orphans and children who live in Mae Sot rubbish dump can have a proper shelter and access to education in a safe environment, protecting them from their vulnerability to diseases and human trafficking.

More information about this school building project can be found at <https://www.crossroads.org.hk/thailand-schooling-for-refugee-children/>.

ONE EA will continue to provide support to communities in need and contribute towards different CSR activities.
